Is this for you?

A career as a Solicitor is challenging, exciting and prestigious. It focuses on problem solving within the framework of the legal system and all of its complexities. However you choose to progress within the many specialisms of law, you will need exceptional communication skills, technical understanding, a calm, methodical approach and excellent attention to detail.

As a graduate in law you will have already gained significant knowledge of different areas of law and legal principles. This programme is designed to build on this, helping you to develop the skills and maturity to work with clients, applying your knowledge, skills and expertise in a range of professional legal tasks. You will develop the attributes you need to work efficiently, to fluid deadlines, within a fast-paced environment. Your learning will prepare you to handle complex, confidential or sensitive information, drafting client documents and carrying out research on behalf of your clients. As you progress, you will develop increasingly higher level skills in managing colleagues and clients, taking legal matters from enquiry through to completion.

Qualifying as a Solicitor leads to a demanding but extremely rewarding career requiring ethics, professionalism and judgement. It is a global passport to a busy, satisfying and lifelong career.

Typical job roles for individuals studying this programme include Solicitor Apprentice and Legal Assistant.

What will you learn?

- Knowledge of legal practice and regulation
- Ethics, professionalism and judgement
- How to progress legal matters and transactions
- Methods of applying legal knowledge and commercial judgement to produce solutions which meet clients' needs
- Deploying a full range of legal skills - including legal writing and drafting, case and matter analysis, legal research, advocacy and interviewing and advising
- Commercial awareness

Commitment from you

During this programme, 20% of your contracted working hours will be spent on learning and developing the required Knowledge, Skills and Behaviours. This development time may include learning new relevant tasks in your role, embedding your knowledge in your role, practical workplace training, spending development time with your Line Manager, attending online or face-to-face courses and time spent writing assignments/assessments or directed self-study hours:

- Study towards your Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice
- Evidencing the application of your knowledge within your working day
- Independent study and research
- Shadowing colleagues and mentoring
- Technical training
